

Rogue Valley Chorale, November 1, 1993 (from Lynn Sjolund)

1. tuxedos for the gentlemen. Tuxedos may be purchased for a little over $100.00. If you are interested, please check this evening so an order can be made at once. If anyone has a cheaper source, please let us know. A description of the complete ensembles is on the piano.

Solos for the Christmas concert will be announced next week. If you still wish to audition, see the director.

2. GINGER ROGERS EXTRAVAGANZA!!! On November 21st the famous Ms. Rogers will be appearing at the Craterian Theater as part of the kick-off for the campaign to raise money to refurbish, rejuvenate and resplendorize the place. The men have been asked to sing for the event and to serenade Ms. Rogers. You will be given music tonight. You can see that the music is from shows that featured Ms. Rogers at some time. The Gershwin tunes were first sung by her in the musical "Crazy Girl". The women of the Chorale have also been invited to assist as escorts for guests and as hostesses. There will be a rehearsal sometime during the week before the event. Please mark it on your calendar. This is a way that we can be heard by a large, prestigious audience.

3. Season ticket sales. So far we are doing quite well with the season ticket sales. We do want to sell as many as possible. Our cut-off date for this part of the campaign is November 15. Individual ticket sales will start on November 22. See one of the RVC Board members for information--- especially Brent Barr, president.

4. If you enjoyed the pot-luck last Monday evening, let one of the RVC Board members know about it. We could do this again during the next concert rehearsal time. I did notice some people who weren't able to get to dinner also had problems getting to rehearsal.

Congratulations to Ed Houck for producing a fine souvenir tape of the European trip. It takes from the other side of Roseburg to our freeway exit to hear it all, and the fine sounds make the miles disappear effortlessly.
